

A Change of Location

The Book: Hannah Ballard's most successful relationship: her career.

Her superpower is an uncanny ability to discover perfect movie settings while avoiding the limelight herself. She's involved in pre-production for a film based on a bestselling historical novel when a chance meeting with an aristocratic landowner leads her to Somerset and his estate in picturesque Milver Vale—the ideal backdrop for a period drama.

Martin Latimer, Marquess of Milverston, believes the release of a high-profile motion picture can increase tourism and bolster the local economy. And he hopes to spend more time with its intriguing location manager.

After Hannah suffers a professional setback, proximity and mutual passion propel the couple into an exhilarating affair. But Martin soon becomes a magnet for the scandal-hungry media, forcing Hannah into a painful and damaging decision.

Powering through heartbreak is hard. Especially when coping with unemployment—and dealing with members of her fractured family. For their protection, she must part from the nobleman asking her to stay with him. Who makes her believe that, at long last, she actually could be falling in love.

Publication Date: April 16, 2024

Trim Size: 5.5 x 8.5 inches

Page Count: 336

ISBN 979-8-9856734-5-6 (trade paper)

Retail Price: $15.99

ISBN 979-8-9856734-3-2 (ebook)

Retail Price $5.99

BISAC Category:
FIC027020 FICTION

Romance/Contemporary

Distributed by: Ingram Wholesale

Gallica Press

To contact the author:
margaret@margaretporter.com

Praise for A Change of Location:

“Porter has perfectly captured the romance trope of finding unexpected love while traveling to new places . . . A charming sojourn to the English countryside for readers who enjoy smart love stories.” Kirkus Reviews

“A revealing novel of new possibilities . . . The perfect ticket for a warm account of movie-making and personal magic.” Midwest Book Review

“A triumph! I had so much fun with Porter’s quirky, thoroughly lovable characters that I couldn’t put the novel down.” Leslie Carroll, author of Royal Affairs.

The Author: MARGARET PORTER is an award-winning and bestselling author of fifteen historical novels and A Change of Location, her first contemporary. A former stage actress, she also worked professionally in film, television, and radio. She and her husband live in New England.
website: www.margaretporter.com

Marketing & Promotion:

Bookstore Events * Book Club Visits * Regional Radio Advertising
Print Advertising * Social Media Ads * Television & Radio Interviews
Book Trailer * Book Reviews * Blog Tour
Readers’ Group Outreach * Goodreads Giveaway